Cruikshank's "Toothache."—THE ORIGINAL PEN and INK PANORAMIC DRAWING ENTIRELY EXECUTED by HORACE MAYHEW, from and after which G. Cruikshank engraved his well-known and now scarce and expensive series of designs (published by McLean) of the MISERIES OF TOOTHACHE, mounted on canvas, and on a neat ebony roller, the length of the whole about FOURTEEN FEET, £3 3s

A valuable memorial of two public favourites, and interesting in shewing how willing the artist was to take a hint, and how his genius could modify it in execution.
